

STABILIZATION DEADLOCK AT LONDON CONTINUES

NEARLY AN INCH OF RAIN BRINGS RELIEF TO DIXON

Drought Is Broken, But Weatherman May Be Only "Kidding"

Nearly an inch of water fell in Dixon and vicinity in Thursday's showers, which brought relief from the terrific heat which had caused suffering and considerable crop damage. The official reading showed that 91 inches of water fell throughout the day, being of unestimable value to gardens and corn.

(By The Associated Press)
Drenching rains and high winds in various sections of the middle west broke the drought and brought temporary relief from the torrid wave but the weather man was threatening to turn on the heat again today.

As an evidence of how hot it really can get, the folks down in Shattuck, Okla. saw the mercury in their thermometers rise to 120 degrees above zero yesterday.

And at Junction City, Kan., it was 116 while Oklahoma City had its eighth consecutive day of 100-mark readings. Bluffton, Ind. had a 102 degree temperature and at Kansas City it was 101. St. Louis sweltered at an even 100 and three persons died. Throughout northeastern Oklahoma the mercury hung between the 100 and 104 mark.

Some Damage Reported
The cooling rains which brought relief to a widespread populace and parched fields were accompanied in some instances by destructive winds and electrical storms.

In Chicago the damage was estimated by police at $65,000 and over the state line at Gary and Hammond, Ind., the loss approached $42,000. Downstate Illinois reported destructive winds that demolished the mess kitchen and commissary tent of the Buffalo Rock Conservation Corps camp at Ottawa.

In other places the rain fell in torrents. Missouri receiving eight inches. America, N. D. had two inches and Moorhead, Minn. 1.50 inches.

Winds Preceded Rain
High winds preceded rain at Newkirk, Okla., and Pratt and Wichita, Kas. During the day western Kansas reported a threatened water famine.

Following beneficial rains in the southwestern section Wisconsin looked forward to more today. Meanwhile Milwaukee cooled off to a maximum of 77 yesterday.

Rain also fell in southeastern Iowa, but the mercury remained in the 90's. The rain that Lincoln, Neb. received last yesterday was the first of any consequence for exactly one month and in other parts of the state it came as a boon to the corn crop.

Stolen Dixon Car
And Alleged Taker
Are Held In Moline

Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber went to Moline at noon today with a warrant for the arrest of two men giving the name of Kenneth Carlson and Gilbert Thorpe, who were reported to have been driving through the streets of Moline last evening in the Chevrolet coupe belonging to the P. X. Newcomer Company of this city, which was stolen from the parking space on River street near Hennepin avenue Tuesday afternoon.

According to the report received late last night by Chief Van Bibber, Carlson was driving the car and when Moline police attempted to stop the machine to question the occupants, Thorpe jumped and ran, escaping arrest. Carlson was taken in custody and is to be brought back to Dixon this afternoon. He and Thorpe are charged with the larceny of an automobile in a warrant issued by Justice Grover Gehant this morning.

C. J. King of Princeton came to Dixon last evening and recovered his Chevrolet landau which was taken from the streets of that city Monday night and abandoned on Galena avenue near Tenth street.

Rockwood Is Held
Elected In Center
School Vote Case

After a five-day trial in the county court, Judge Leach late yesterday afternoon handed down his opinion in the Lee Center high school contest election case which involved the election of one member of the board of directors in district 231 last spring. The opinion held that C. L. Rockwood was legally elected to membership to the board over Harry Eaton.

The ballot was recounted before the court, the tally showing 212 ballots cast for Rockwood and 207 for Eaton. The court ruled that one ballot cast for Clifford Rockwood was legal, bringing his count to 213. Four ballots were ruled illegal bringing the final count to 209 for Rockwood and 207 for Eaton. Final arguments were submitted by attorneys yesterday afternoon which was followed immediately by the court's decision.

Merchants Are Without Authority To Collect
Tax From CustomerFinance Director Rice
Explains New Law
And Regulations

BULLETIN
Dixon retail merchants will meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening to discuss the sales tax situation and to learn what merchants in other cities plan to do about it.

Springfield, Ill., June 30—(AP)—Retail merchants have no authority to collect the two percent sales tax from their customers as an added charge, state Finance Director Joseph J. Rice announced today, but may include the tax in fixing prices as a cost of business.

Rice warned against misrepresentation of the amount of the tax or profiteering under guise of collections.

Regulations issued by his department governing the new law which becomes effective tomorrow state:

"The tax imposed by this act is an occupational tax upon retailers and is not a tax upon consumers."

"In fixing the price of his products the retailer may consider the tax to be paid by him under this act as one of the elements of cost in the conduct of his business and may include the amount of such tax in fixing such price in the same manner as rent, general taxes and other general overhead expenses are taken into consideration."

Profiteering Barred
"But he is neither required nor authorized to collect the tax as a tax from his customers. He should not misrepresent the amount of the tax imposed by the act nor engage in profiteering under the guise of collecting such tax from purchasers."

General rules and regulations for administering the tax on persons selling tangible personal property at retail will be distributed through County Clerks and Chambers of Commerce, Rice said.

The test of a sale at retail is to depend on whether it is to a purchaser for use or consumption and not for resale.

Retailers must make monthly returns to the Department of Finance, the first being due on August 15, showing gross cash receipts from all retail sales including cash, charge and time sales, regardless of whether payment is received during the month.

In implementing regulations, Rice rules that receipts from the sale of advertising by newspapers or magazines will not be considered retail sales.

Some Other Rules
Other rules follow:
Retailers must determine whether sales are made for ultimate consumption or for resale so that proper returns can be made for gross receipts.

Sales of goods which are ingredients or constituents of other tangibles sold by the buyer are not considered sales at retail.

Sales of containers for merchandise, such as barrels or bottles, are not considered as retail unless the purchaser in turn sells or makes an extra charge for them.

START ITS YEAR
WITH FORCE CUT

Thousands Will Lose
Their Jobs: Pay
Rolls Reduced

Washington, June 30—(AP)—Uncle Sam sets out on a new fiscal year tomorrow with a payroll shortened by the elimination of thousands of men and women.

Even in foreign countries where there are American agencies will the pinch of economy be felt, for the Democratic platform promise of a 25 per cent cut in federal expenditures has been carried abroad too.

The aim is to spend a billion dollars less in the new financial year for regular running expenses. Administration officials say they will hit the mark.

In the old-established departments and independent offices, no opportunities have been neglected, the boss, say, to save every nickel possible. But the "save-a-nickel" try does not apply to the emergency agencies set up to combat the depression.

Further Pay Cuts
First to be hard hit is, naturally, personnel. There is the 15 per cent wage cut, ready in effect three months. Then, hundreds of dismissals are being effected while in other hundreds of cases, the workers, though retained, will suffer additional pay cuts by imposition of furloughs.

Among those persons being dropped are employees of 30 years or more service, who have been made eligible for pensions; men or women whose husbands or wives also hold government jobs, and a great many whose services are no longer deemed necessary because their work has been terminated or curtailed.

What the removals ultimately will total, no one is in position to say. Of the ten executive departments, War alone is preparing to go along as is in Washington.

Scientists Lose Out
Even the War Department faces some application of payless leave in the Capital and reduction of civilian workers outside.

In the Commerce Department, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is being cut to the bone, and in the famed Bureau of Standards, 200 employees, most of them scientists of well-established reputations, are losing out.

In the Treasury, 600 employees of the Bureau of Internal Revenue go, along with 1,500 enlisted men and 150 warrant officers of the Coast Guard, 500 from the Public Health Service and 200 from the Industrial Alcohol Bureaus.

In the Interior Department, there in the Department of Justice, 1,700 will be several hundred less jobs; fewer, including 1,300 Prohibition workers.

The Navy, on June 1, dropped 203 departmental workers. It is eliminating more from other Navy activities.

Paradoxically, with hundreds of millions going for farm relief through other avenues, the Department of Agriculture expects to have to use every possible means of saving to keep within its budget.

Furloughs For Many
The State Department will lose a handful of its workers, while the Postoffice and Labor Departments hope to get by through the medium of furloughs.

In the independent group, the Interstate Commerce Commission looks at present to be the principal sufferer, 612 employees being cut off soon.

The Government Printing Office must drop 350 to 400 in the next two weeks; the General Accounting Office is losing 150 to 200. Accompanying the pay-personnel cut is the reduction of more than $300,000,000 in benefits to veterans of all wars.

What, in money, all this will save can be determined only when the books are balanced at the end of the new fiscal year, July 1, 1934.

Burial was in the Pine Creek cemetery where the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Bowers were laid to rest almost a half century ago.

Ephriam H. Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers, was born near Martinsburg, Pa. Feb. 17, 1855. When 20 years of age he came to Illinois, Nov. 27, 1875, he was married to Maggie L. Kennedy. He is survived by his wife and one sister, Annie Bowers of Lincoln, Neb. Two children have preceded him in death, Edward Irvin, aged 13 and Edith Irene, aged ten years.

Carnera Wins in Sixth Round With Knockout

Primo Carnera of Italy scored a knockout over Jack Sharkey last night at the Madison Square Garden Bowl, near New York City, and won the heavyweight championship of the world. The challenger showed a marked improvement in his boxing, and carried the fight to the champ throughout the six rounds before scoring the knockout.

RELIEF LAW IS PLAINLY STATED

New Government Corp.
May Be Functioning
By August

(Editor's note: This is another of a series of articles prepared by staff writers of The Associated Press to explain in simple terms the important laws enacted at the last sessions of Congress.)

By Charles D. Watkins
Washington, June 30—(AP)—The main-spring of the home mortgage relief law will be a $200,000,000 government-owned "Home Owners Loan Corporation." Officials say it should be operating by August, with agents in every county.

The corporation is to help owners of homes valued at no more than $20,000, and on which the mortgage does not exceed 50 per cent of the present value. It has power to issue up to two billions in bonds to take up such mortgages.

A home owner who cannot meet mortgage payments should first ask the holder of the mortgage to agree rather than face default, to exchange the mortgage for 18-year bonds, issued by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and bearing four per cent interest. On these bonds the Federal government guarantees interest but not principal.

If the mortgage holder agrees, the agreement is taken to the county agent for his approval, and that of his superior officers.

Interest Five Per Cent
Upon such approval, the mortgage holder taxes his bonds, and the corporation takes over the mortgage, automatically reducing the interest to five per cent.

The corporation expects to accumulate a surplus which will enable it to pay off its 18-year bonds when they fall due.

If the mortgage holder won't accept the new terms, the corporation can take up to that total to meet taxes and repairs.

Veteran, Pension Cut Off And Ordered From Military Home In
Dayton, Murdered Chief Surgeon

Had Also Planned To Kill Congressman
With A Bomb

Dayton, Ohio, June 30—(AP)—The murder of a government official and a plot to kill a Congressman was attributed by police today to a discredited Spanish-American War veteran, who was cut off the pension and disability rolls of the Veterans Bureau three weeks ago.

The veteran, James D. Shadobolt, 52, was charged with murder, growing out of the fatal shooting last night of Col. Vernon Roberts, Chief of the Medical Staff of the National Military Home here.

Shadobolt was found hiding in a cemetery near the home, and was closely questioned for several hours. Later police said he had told them he originally planned to kill Congressman Byron B. Harlan of the Third Ohio District. Harlan voted for passage of the recent veterans' economy act in Congress.

Records of the military home indicated Shadobolt served one year in the Spanish-American War and until this June was receiving about $60 monthly as a pension from the government on a disability claim.

Ordered From Home
Along with many others, Shadobolt was ordered to leave the home and his pension was discontinued on the grounds that his disability was no longer in government service.

Shadobolt was quoted by officers as telling them he had gone to the Gen. City Democratic Club in Dayton several times in recent weeks, carrying bombs intended for Congressman Harlan. Each time, Harlan was away.

AWAITING MOVE
BY WASHINGTON

New Proposal Is Framed
And Sent To Roosevelt
Today
BULLETIN

London, June 30—(AP)—American quarters understood today that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was ready to proceed with a program of steadying the dollar by halting speculation by means of control machinery already in operation more than three months.

London, June 30—(AP)—The deadlock over currency stabilization remained unbroken tonight after a series of conferences attended by leaders of the world economic conference. The next move was said to be up to the United States government.

"We are still waiting on Washington," said Finance Minister George Bonnet of France after a meeting attended by leaders of the gold bloc, American Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley, and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

Before the meeting high British quarters had said they definitely understood President Roosevelt had replied favorably to a plea to prevent erratic dollar fluctuations. According to the British, the reply amounted to substantial approval in principle if not full acceptance.

After the meeting it was understood from an authoritative source that a new gold bloc proposal, under which America and Britain would join in stopping currency speculation and would aid in preventing violent fluctuations of the dollar, had been submitted to Roosevelt. His answer was expected tonight.

Use Of Word Barred
The original gold bloc proposal, which was forwarded to the President by Moley last night contained not only a provision about speculation but also called for a declaration that the signatories pledged themselves to ultimate stabilization.

It was understood that Roosevelt was willing to accept the proposals for stopping speculation, but he called Moley that there must be no specific mention of "stabilization." The President is said to have stated that the proposal must be confined to a fight against speculation.

Roosevelt's reply was regarded in high British quarters as favorable. The gold bloc, however, would not accept.

New Proposal Drafted
At a meeting at the American embassy among the interested parties, including Moley, the phraseology of the gold bloc proposal was debated.

A new draft finally was drawn up it was said, and Moley forwarded it to the President. What changes were made in the original draft was not known.

In a well-informed quarter close to Moley it was said that the Assistant Secretary of State was expecting a favorable reply from Roosevelt.

Robert Beard of La-Molle was awarded the contract for the culvert in Harmon township at a cost of $1,221.20. The firm of Ricci & Woods of Tish-twa was awarded contracts for the culvert in Lee Center township at a bid of $1,513.30 and the Palmyra township culvert, the bid being $803.90.

Wednesday afternoon Carl Stephan, highway commissioner of Ashton township, was awarded the contract for the gravel road construction work in Bradford township which is provided for by a special gravel tax in the township.

Plan To Re-open
City Nat'l. Bank
Is Expected Soon

Examiners from the U. S. Treasury Department have completed an appraisal of the assets of the City National Bank in this city and have returned to Chicago. As soon as the government officials have studied the figures produced by the appraisal it is expected that they will outline conditions under which the City National may re-open for regular business and such plan should be forthcoming shortly.

The situation at the bank has been greatly improved in recent weeks due to the collections of notes, securing of collateral and also the rise in security values, which have vastly enhanced the value of the bank's assets.

Beautiful Display Foreign Goods at Geisenheimer Store
Miss Anna Geisenheimer, who has recently returned from a trip around the world, has had on display for the past week at the Geisenheimer store, on the second story, a display of merchandise purchased in foreign countries, which delights the heart of the feminine purchaser. Of course, with each succeeding day the wares grow less, because they are being purchased rapidly. However, the colorful and interesting display still draws many admirers. The merchandise is exhibited on tables devoted to the different countries, such as Russia, China, Italy, Egypt, Japan, India, Africa, the exhibits being works of art, trinkets, jewelry, drapes, curtains, kimono, jackets, pajamas, pictures, etc., etc. One is fortunate if Miss Geisenheimer is present. She is an interesting and delightful person to converse with, for she is a seasoned traveler and has keen observation and has also the happy faculty of imparting to others that which she has seen. Also possessed of a charming sense of humor, her stories keep one wishing for more. It really is a privilege to visit this display and hear "Miss G." tell you of them and of her travels in general. The lacquer ware from Japan in red, black and gold, the card cases, bags, etc.; the mandarin coats from China; kimono, ools, and pajamas from both countries are beautiful with the artistic and color-wise art of the Oriental. There is one beautiful fan from Africa, of tiny peacock feathers mounted on amber sticks, and other dainty carvings in ivory. There are many fans from China, and many Chinese rings. The linens

MY garden spot is orderly. Mine have a dreadful habit. A window ledge designed to hold Six tulips, nicely potted.

YOUR flowers' pranks are innocent. Each crock picks out a head to hit. Before my hand can grab it.

Helps for Housewives

BUYING MORE EACH TIME MAY SAVE THE PENNY.

Frequently pennies can be saved by purchasing in larger quantities such as half a dozen cans of food, a bushel of potatoes and a peck of fresh vegetables or fruits. A whole ham, shoulder of veal or lamb, can be purchased for a smaller price per pound than if sold sliced. The meat can be served in a variety of ways for a number of meals.

PICTURES IN NURSERY HOLD CHILD'S INTEREST

Interesting and attractive pictures for the nursery can be made by cutting out colored illustrations and advertisements, mounting them on cardboard and binding them with colored paper tapes. The young child is interested in representations of people, animals and familiar objects and activities. The pictures should be hung low at his eye level.

CHILDREN'S HOUSE SHOES KEEP THE PLAY DIRTY OUT

Children coming in from the track quantities of dirt over their shoes. This can be remedied by having the child put on house shoes as he enters. Such shoes, or slippers, which are easy to put on, can be kept in a box or on a low shelf in the entrance hall.

For Bridge Parties

Soda crackers buttered and sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and put in the oven for a few minutes are good to serve with your tea, coffee or hot chocolate.

Bread's Menu Uses Varied

Bread has the same food value, whether eaten in a sandwich, as a stuffing or in a bread crumb dessert. Consequently bread crumbs are a valuable aid, say U. S. food experts, in an economical and attractive menu. For instance, stuffing a chicken or a boned shoulder of lamb makes the meat go farther.

IN PEVERENT PRAISE OF MOTHER

God accept the praise I bring—
The praise that in my heart doth sing
For mother!

O God, I praise Thee for Love love—
A love like unto Thine
above,
Dear mother!

I praise Thee, God, I praise but Thee
For all that she hath been to me,
My Mother!

O send Thy richest blessing down,
And place it as a golden crown
On mother!

Accept, O God, the praise I bring;
O may its shoes ever ring
For mother!

Scott-Lair Wedding Announced

A wedding of interest to Dixon friends occurred Monday, June 26, at Des Moines, Iowa, when Miss Audrey Scott became the bride of Loren Lair. The beautiful double ring ceremony was read by Dr. Lloyd Allen Bash of Des Moines. The bride is a most charming girl, and will doubtless prove a valuable assistant to her husband in his chosen life work, that of a Congregational clergyman. Mr. Lair is now pastor at Cornelia, Iowa, while still a student at the Des Moines University.

The Lair family will be remembered as former Dixon residents, the family of the late Rev. G. E. Lair, recent pastor of the Congregational Church. Thus not only Loren, but also his oldest brother, Edward, are following in their father's footsteps. Edward at present is attending Hartford Conn. University, and is filling a pastorate near that place.

ON THE WAY OUT

It would be extremely foolish to suppose that the current business revival has solved all of the troubles which the depression brought on. Nevertheless, a nation which has suffered from hard times for three long years can be pardoned for letting itself gloat a bit over the increasing signs of a solid and substantial pick-up.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, one of the most respected business diagnosticians in the country, told the Ohio Bankers Association the other day that "business recovery is going forward in the United States with a vigor never before equaled."

Not in 144 years, he said, had American business recorded as great a monthly advance as was shown this year from March to April. Furthermore, he predicted that the improvement from March through June will prove to be the greatest ever recorded in any three months of American history.

Our troubles aren't over . . . but isn't the end of them in plain sight, at last?

EXPERIENCE IS NEEDED

The supplemental report of the congressional committee which investigated the Akron airship disaster contains one point which it seems that the naval authorities might well adopt: forthwith.

That is the suggestion that experienced dirigible officers be kept regularly in lighter-than-air duty, so that a permanent corps of veterans thoroughly versed in the handling of dirigibles may be built up.

As things are now, the navy rotates its assignments in a way which requires the dirigible officers to spend a good deal of time on sea duty. Commanders Charles E. Rosendahl and H. V. Wiley, for instance, are serving on surface craft right now.

If the navy is to maintain a fleet of dirigibles—as looks more than possible, in spite of the Akron's crash—it would seem to be the part of wisdom to develop a group of officers permanently assigned to dirigible work. It is hard to see how complete efficiency in the lighter-than-air branch can be maintained otherwise.

A SENSIBLE MOVE

The federal government is preparing to exercise far stricter supervision over projected trans-atlantic flights than it has exercised in the past; and anyone who can remember the long series of ill-advised ventures which came to grief in mid-ocean is bound to applaud the move as a very sensible one.

There will still be plenty of room for all flights which have a genuine concern with the advancement of aviation as their main object. The work of charting the air lanes and linking ocean-separated continents together will go on as rapidly as before. No one need fear that the progress of the real air pioneer is going to be handicapped.

But the publicity-seekers, the half-baked thrill-seekers, the stunters—these will have to do their flying over dry land hereafter. And the chances are that the public won't mind a bit.

When one considers that 20 dirigibles, with 100 airplanes in their bellies, could be built for the price of one battleship, it is readily understandable how formidable a fleet of these would be in time of war. —Representative Delaney, chairman of House sub-committee on aeronautics.

I do not like to think what might have happened to the country if the president had not provided for the relief of our people by the Reconstruction Finance Act. —Atlee Pomerene, former chairman of the R. F. C.

I suppose it is a great honor, but frankly, I don't know what it is all about. What does Mr. Payer get out of it, any way. —Mrs. Harry F. Payer, wife of the new assistant secretary of state, upon being notified of her husband's appointment.

Drinking is an art, and while in France it may be productive of good conversation, in Germany of music and in England of social living, here it makes fools out of gentlemen. —Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar.

Human life was never so cheap and insecure in the United States as it is at the present time, and murder in decidedly more common in this country than in any other country which claims to be civilized. —Dr. Frederick Hoffman, insurance statistician.

Hard times, if not too hard and too long continued, are good for people; they bring out the grit in them. —Isabel MacDonald, daughter of Britain's prime minister.

My opposition to the dole is not because of the money it costs—that is a minor matter. It is the insult which the most efficient country in the world hands to men who want to work. —Henry Ford.

Trying to observe the inner workings of an atom is like plucking the wings off a butterfly to see how it flies, or like taking poison to discover the consequences. —Sir Jas. Jeans, scientist.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Dotty scrambled to the ground and said, "Gee, I am glad I was found. The big tree didn't hurt me, but it scared me quite a bit."

"I am positive that I don't care for stunts like hanging in the air. The little men sure chopped that tree. That is the last of it!"

"Well, 'twas a bad tree, anyway," one Tinykite said. "It couldn't play real nice. It always spent its time just scaring folks."

Poor Dotty had an awful fright. What happened served the old tree right. From now on it will have no chance to pull its crazy jokes."

Then Scouty, to the serpent men said, "We were very frightened when we saw you coming through the woods in that old serpent skin. 'Why do you travel around that way? Is it the way you have your play?' One of the serpent men said, 'Sure!' Then he began to grin."

"We are rather little men, you see. The skin is a handy thing," said he. "When we run into big things we can frighten them away. 'When ever it is up to us to fight, our disguise helps us through all right. That is the reason little Dotty's safe and sound today.'"

All of a sudden Duncy cried, "Hey, I would like to have a ride in that big net. It was fun to watch Dotty bounce up high."

"I'd like to know just how it feels to fly around, head over heels," "Climb in," one serpent man replied, "If you are game to try."

So Duncy did as he was told. Wee Scouty said, "You are brave and bold!" And then the lad flew in the air. It took his breath away!

The Tinymites all laughed in glee. Said Coppy, "Oh, do that to me!" "We will bounce you all," one man cried, and the Tines all yelled, "Hurrah!" (The Tines do a serpent dance in the next story.)

VAILE AND O'MALLEY

Here Are Jokes That Made King George Chuckle

By MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, NEA Service
London—King George of England went to a "command" vaudeville show in London the other night and laughed. He not only laughed aloud but he laughed long. He forgot all about his rheumatism and all about the cares of state.

And nowadays when a king laughs in public, it is news. For kinging in these days is a serious business. Kings have become models of gravity and decorum—unless King Carol and his red-headed enchantress, Madame Lupescu, are brought into the picture. But, then the kingdom of Rumania sort of stands in a class by itself.

King George's visit to the theater was in the nature of a new experience for him. The old-fashioned vaudeville, he had often seen. But lately there has sprung up in London what they call "crazy vaudeville." The comedians do the maddest things and say some things that border on the very naughty.

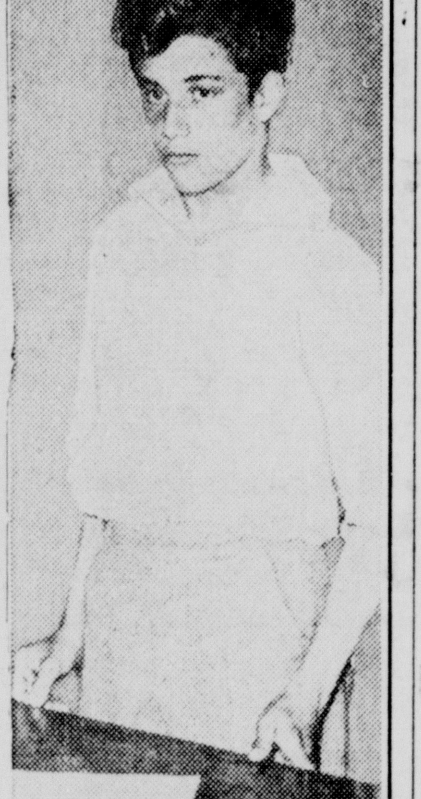

Of course, what the king saw was toned down. The most daring jokes were cut out. In fact some of the things that amused the King and Queen and his son, the Duke of York, and his pretty Duchess, would perhaps seem pretty feeble stuff to American audiences.

Here are samples of what made the King laugh:

A monologist told about a man who had very long hair at the end of his nose, and explained: "When he sneezed, it cracked like a whip." A gloomy-looking individual went into a restaurant and said to the waiter: "Do you serve crabs here?" To which the waiter, with deep melancholy replied: "We serve anybody!"

A noted comedian on the British vaudeville stage, known as Nervo, was shown lying all tucked up in bed in the hospital, wearing an enormously long nightgown. A baby was laid in the bed beside him. The patient, coming from the anesthetic, stirred, looked, saw the infant and then yelled: "Hi, my operation was for appendicitis!"

Youth, 17, Held in Boy's Murder

Richard Ragone, 17-year-old Philadelphia, Pa. youth, is shown in the top photo as he appeared in police headquarters at Philadelphia charged with the murder of 9-year-old William A. Reilly, Jr. (below), also of Philadelphia. The arrest followed the discovery of the Reilly boy's body, bearing 37 wounds, in Mount Moriah Cemetery, Yeadon, Pa.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY A. STONER

(Contributed)
Mary Alice Stoner, daughter of T. W. and Hester Ann Garrison Depuy, one of a family of five children was born on a farm in South Dixon township on Dec. 15, 1866 and passed away at home in Dixon on June 21, 1933 at the age of 66 years, 6 months and 6 days. Death was due to complications following an illness of several years duration. As a girl she attended the country schools after which she came to Dixon and attended the Dixon Normal College, later teaching for a number of years in the rural schools of Bradford, Nelson and South Dixon townships. She was united in marriage to Melchor E. Stoner of Franklin county, Pa. February 19, 1890 and moved onto a farm in South Dixon township where she resided until 1919 when the family moved to Dixon where she has since made her home. Her husband preceded her in death July 29, 1925. To this union four children were born, Florence M. and Marguerite E. at home, Mrs. John R. (Harriette) Moore of South Dixon, and one son who died in infancy. She also leaves three grandchildren, Robert Stoner, Florence Louise and John R. Moore Jr., several nephews and nieces besides a host of friends. She united with the First M. E. church when a girl and continued in that faith all her life. She was a member of the Missionary and Aid societies of the church, also a member of the Woman's Relief Corps. She was always a loyal worker and faithful friend to all who knew her. She gave unto each day of life the best, taking in turn the good it always gives in joy and service. Her character was beautiful in its purity and simplicity. Her whole life radiated love and her genuine goodness brightened her home for all who were privileged to visit there.

The community extended sympathy to the nearest and dearest in their bereavement knowing that her blessed memory will long bring consolation to their hearts. Funeral services were conducted from the family residence at 1007 Pecunia Avenue Friday afternoon at 2:30 with Rev. Gilbert Stansell officiating. The W. R. C. also had their service at the house. Interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

Everyday Religion

THE SUGAR IN LIFE

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

"Give us, O give us," says Caritative in the Wodehouse story, and at his work. Be his occupation what it may, he is equal to any who follow the same pursuit in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time—he will do it better—he will persevere longer. Any man ought to sing if he has work to do these days. But Carlyle did not do it, despite his preaching a gospel of joy. He was grim, glum and grumpy, like the detective in the Wodehouse story, and for the same reason—indigestion twisted his insides.

The detective was told by his doctor that the only cure was to learn to smile, even if it cracked his face. He did so after much effort and hard practice, and his smile was so searching, like the smile of Mona Lisa, that he seemed to know every secret. His smile won through—even the Dean who married him asked for an interview to confess his sins.

Anyway, we have just so long to live in this world, and it is better to smile life through than to frown it away. Carlyle was right in his teaching, if wrong in practice. Nothing is easier to bear than life if we do it cheerfully—it puts a whistle in your lips. A solemn face may not make life shorter but it does make it seem longer.

Cheerfulness is the great lubricant; it will run ungreased all day. It is a sign of a wise head and a brave heart. It makes every house a sanctuary, and every meal a feast. It turns duty into delight. It is the spirit of health and the soul of religion.

Without cheerfulness, like the spies in the old Bible story we are sure to bring back an evil report. Pigmy are giants, hills are mountains and every stream is an ocean that cannot be bridged. We can be serious and also cheerful. If we know the knack of it—for seriousness is one thing and solemnity is something else. To sum it up, cheerfulness is the

SINGLE TERRIFIC PUNCH ENOUGH TO FLATTEN SHARKEY

With It Primo Carnera Won Championship Of The World

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, June 30.—(AP)—Under circumstances that still seemed baffling and somewhat incredible today to at least a share of the light fraternity, Primo Carnera, the 15-year-old, 260-pound Italian giant, who was just a "strong man" in a circus sideshow a few years ago, stood astride the boxing world like a modern Colossus as the new heavyweight champion.

With one mighty swoop of his ham-like right fist, Carnera took the title from Jack Sharkey, 201-pound American, on a knockout in the sixth round of a 15-round match last evening.

The finish came with a suddenness that was as dramatic as it was startling to a crowd of 35,000 spectators, little more than half filling the Madison Square Garden bowl. An inside right uppercut, brought up swiftly as the giant came the grips along the ropes with his foe, felled Sharkey as though he had been a tree hit by the Woodman's final blow.

Fell Face Down
The champion fell to the canvas, face down, scarcely moved except to lift his head once and drop his mouthpiece to the floor, while referee Arthur Donovan finished the count of ten, after 2 minutes and 17 seconds of the sixth round.

It marked the second time in his erratic career that Sharkey had lost an international battle, with the title at stake, and it flabbed most of those at the ringside who had watched the Bostonian drop after outboxing, outsmarting and outpunching Carnera by a wide margin in the first five rounds. There was no question about the power behind Carnera's final thrust, the climax of a spectacular closing flurry that saw the champion flounder suddenly lose all complete control of his defense and crumple under the ponderous punches of the biggest man who ever scaled the world heavyweight heights. It was an upper-cut that had everything Carnera could muster in his huge frame behind it and Sharkey looked "cold" if ever a fighter did, as he went down. It was his "secret punch," Carnera exclaimed exultantly, after the fight, and perhaps he was right, for Sharkey didn't see it coming and may not know yet what hit him.

Out Several Minutes
It required several minutes in Sharkey's corner to bring him around to the point where he could stand on his own feet and acknowledge the wild enthusiasm of his conqueror, who had been tossing his squad of managers and seconds around like so many bags of sand. But except for pains in his chest and stomach, Sharkey showed no after-effects nor was there any evidence of a concussion more lasting than that always connected with a knockout.

Yet up to the finish, Sharkey was the master of his gargantuan rival. The champion started slowly and lost the first round, taking at least one hard right hand clout on the chin, but he seemed unhurt and for the next four rounds gave Carnera a boxing lesson. He feinted the big fellow off balance, he hooked him dizzy with lefts and tried desperately at times to apply the "crusher" with a looping right to the head.

In the second and fifth rounds, Sharkey staggered Carnera with right handers to the head, Primo, when most flustered, resorted to bear-like wrestling tactics and employed backhand blows that drew warnings from the referee in the third, fourth and fifth rounds. The Italian took many of the champion's punches on his huge arms, but up to the sixth round he did not appear to hurt Sharkey seriously with a single swish of his big paws.

Seemed Confident
As if confident something was going to happen, Carnera came out for the sixth round with a wide grin, almost fearsome in the expanse of teeth it revealed. They grappled along one side of the ring then another, Sharkey tumbled half through the ropes, going to his knees after rebounding from a left to the head. The champion tore back at Primo without a count and connected with a right that shook the Italian. For the third and at time, then, they went into the ropes and Carnera applied the final stroke.

Ringside opinion differed somewhat sharply as to the circumstances of the finish, but boxing commission officials said they saw no reason to doubt the genuineness of the outcome. Skeptics pointed to the shift of being odds 6 to 5 in Carnera's favor shortly before the bout, marking the first time a challenger ever had crawled into the ring a favorite. But there has been skepticism of Carnera's actual fighting prowess ever since he first came to the United States three years ago to push over dozens of opponents, from Broadway to Main street, in one of the most amazing road to the championship ever traversed by a professional pugilist.

Is Improved Fighter
Probably to most of the onlookers in the sunken bowl last evening this fighting mammoth seemed unbeatable, too strong for any rival conceding him nearly 60 pounds in weight, along with the other physical advantages attached to Primo's size. Unquestionably he was a better fighter than

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

A SOB STORY—

It had to come. It was one of those things that had to be. Babe Ruth was benched the other day for failure to hit. Baseball's greatest hitter and most colorful character at the end of the trail!

The boy who went from St. Mary's orphanage in Baltimore to the very pinnacle of baseball, the Great Man who did more than any other person—and that goes for you, too, Judge—to save the game after the sorry scandal of 1919, finally had to yield his proud place in the Yankee outfield to another. Babe Ruth, at 39, too old to play!

THE PANGS OF AGE—
There have been signs from time to time of the decay of old George. Yet after year, as the spring came and the Babe went through his training stunts, the fear was expressed that Ruth's aged and creaking body would not stand the stress and struggle of another big league campaign.

Now and then a tendon would snap in the slender legs that had to bear the Herculean body and shoulders the Great Man swings succumb to influenza. Once he was rushed to New York with a gargantuan stomach-ache. They called it the stomach-ache heard round the world.

Only last fall, under the heat of the closing days of the Yankee pennant drive, the big Babe fell by the wayside. While the team was on the road, Ruth was very suddenly stricken. Appendicitis was diagnosed, and he was rushed back to New York. It was expected he would be out of the game for weeks, perhaps out of the big world series.

Ruth has been out of the game at intervals during his glorious years with the Red Sox and the Yankees (once little Miller Huggins chased him right out of the park for insubordination), but this is the first time Babe Ruth has been benched for failure to paste that apple. Poor old fellow! All washed up!

HAPPY ENDING—
But what's that you say? Ruth got back into the game after a short rest—and hit three of the longest homers of his career! Hey, gimme one of those papers, boy; let's see what it says here. "Ruth comes back from bench—his three homers win double-header."

Well, now, that's more like it!

when Sharkey knocked him down and beat him decisively two years ago, yet none of his punches, until the final blow and little of his tactics carried conviction to fistic experts.

At any rate, this Goliath rules the heavyweights, the biggest man to hold the world championship since Jess Willard, the Pottawatomie giant. The Italian dwarfed all of them that could be mustered last night, towering above Jack Dempsey, the one-time "giant killer," and Gene Tunney, as they shook hands with Primo in the ring, just before the battle.

Yet up to the finish, Sharkey was the master of his gargantuan rival. The champion started slowly and lost the first round, taking at least one hard right hand clout on the chin, but he seemed unhurt and for the next four rounds gave Carnera a boxing lesson. FOUR BATTLERS PUT TO SLEEP IN OUTDOOR ARENA

Fine Card Of Bouts At Maples Last Evening Pleased Fans

Knockouts were not only the order of the evening at the Madison Square Garden in New York City, where Carnera and Sharkey boxed six rounds until the latter went down for the count, but likewise at the Crawford Maples arena, buton punches were the most popular of the evening. It was one of the best cards that has been presented by the Dixon Athletic Club and brought together some stiff opposition.

The card of six bouts saw four wins by the knockout route. Eddie Carlson and Ray Wilson, local boxers, both won by this route and Preston "Grandpa" Laurette, of Marselles, whose performance is always admired by the local fans, who have come to count him a local boxer, likewise sent over a button blow to win his match. The threatening skies of the early evening served to slightly hurt the attendance, but a large crowd turned out to witness the fine card.

Carlson, much improved over last week, opened the program opposing Kid Morton of Marselles in the 135 pound class. The pair were cautious in the opening round but began tearing in as the second opened and the round had lasted but one minute when Carlson sent over a quick, hard right to Morton's jaw which sent him down for the count of ten and recorded the first knockout.

Joey Chivattaras of Marselles made his first appearance in the local ring since last season, when he stepped between the ropes to meet Dale Holgren of Rock Island in the 118 pound division. Joey started off with the going, carrying the fight to his opponent, but Holgren met him half way and sent in some stinging return punches. Chivattaras sent a hard stinging blow to the Rock Islander's mouth early in the round and after about two minutes of fighting, Referee Jack Sharkey raised Joey's hand indicating that he won his bout with a technical knockout.

Doty Gets Decision
Probably the best battle of the evening brought Young Doty, Dixon state hospital boxer, into the ring with Louis Visconti of Rock Island, the southpaw puncher who scored a win last week, the pair being in the 135 pound division. Doty showed great comeback qualities and while the going was rough and stormy for him in the opening round, he came back strong in the second, managed to evade his opponent's left hand, holding even grounds, and in the third, was decidedly the aggressor and winner of the verdict. In the first Visconti landed one of his vicious left-hand swings to Doty's mid-section and sent him to the canvas for the count of eight. Doty rested and regaining his feet, managed to stay for the remainder of the round. In the second, Doty was very cautious of Visconti's left and kept away from danger, giving his opponent plenty to think about and rocking his head repeatedly with both right and left jabs. The third saw Visconti a weakened battler while Doty displayed his greatest strength and a wonderful reserve power, easily winning the battle.

Laurette Scores K. O.
Preston Laurette of Marselles met Dwight Pollard, colored Rock Islander in the fourth bout in the 128 pound class. Pollard was very shifty on his feet and packed a hard wallop in both gloves, but Laurette was tactful and after about two minutes of sparring with few blows landed, the Marselles favorite sent over a stinging right to the point of Pollard's chin and the Rock Island colored boy slumped down to be counted out and then was carried to his corner by his second where he was revived.

Ray Wilson, Dixon's heavyweight who was introduced as suitable material to challenge Max Baer in 1934, won another knockout verdict over Dino Filippino of Ladd and a hard-battling heavy. It came in the first round with Filippino showing plenty of signs of fight, but cautious with his blows, when Wilson sent over a hard right to the chin and his opponent rolled over on the mat for the count of ten.

The feature bout of the evening in which Arrio Soldati of Rock Island, Golden Glove champion, was scheduled to meet Art Cook of Peoria, saw a substitute for the latter who fought Wednesday night and sustained a bad cut over his left eye which kept him from appearing on the Dixon card. In his place Bruce Wade, a well-known and clever Peoria colored heavy-weight furnished plenty of entertainment for the champ. Wade responded with jabs to Arrio's face and head in the first two rounds although the champion carried the battle to him, and in the third, both punched it out freely. Soldati receiving the verdict.

Carnera's Victory Pleases Mussolini

Rome June 30.—(AP)—Primo Carnera's victory over Jack Sharkey was the first piece of news communicated to Premier Mussolini when he arose today.

His secretary told him Italy now holds the world's heavyweight boxing championship for the first time in history.

Il Duce expressed himself as being delighted with the success of the huge Italian fighter.

The International Boxing Federation, meeting here this week, definitely pronounced Carnera an Italian, despite his application for French citizenship.

Newspapers devoted most of their front pages today to the match, although the fight ended too late to permit editorial comment.

FIREWORKS ARE OMITTED FROM STATE PROGRAM

There Will Be No Display At State Hospital On Tuesday

For their first time in years, patients of the Dixon State hospital and hundreds of residents of Dixon and vicinity, will not enjoy the privilege of witnessing the Fourth of July fireworks display at the institution next Tuesday evening. Because of the strict economic program imposed upon the charitable institutions of the state by the administration, this feature of the program will be suspended this year. For several years the state hospital grounds have been the gathering place for hundreds of families on the evenings of the Fourth where they enjoyed the band concert and fireworks display which followed.

Patients and employees, however, will not be permitted to lose sight of the fact that Tuesday is a legal holiday and a fine program of entertainment has been provided to continue throughout the day. The program of activities and entertainment is as follows:

Day's Program
8:30—Flag raising—Boy Scouts and training corps.
9:00—Baseball game—Boy's park.
11:30—Dinner.
1:30—Girls' drill—patriots on parade at park.
1:45—Boy Scouts' pyramid formations at park.
2:00—Athletic events.
5:00—Picnic supper at park.
6:00—Fourth of July Parade.
7:00—Band concert.
8:00—Talking pictures in the amusement hall.

Sports Events
In the afternoon the regular program of races, contests and events will be staged at the amusement park. Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer and his staff have provided a fine program in which both patients and employees will participate, which is as follows:

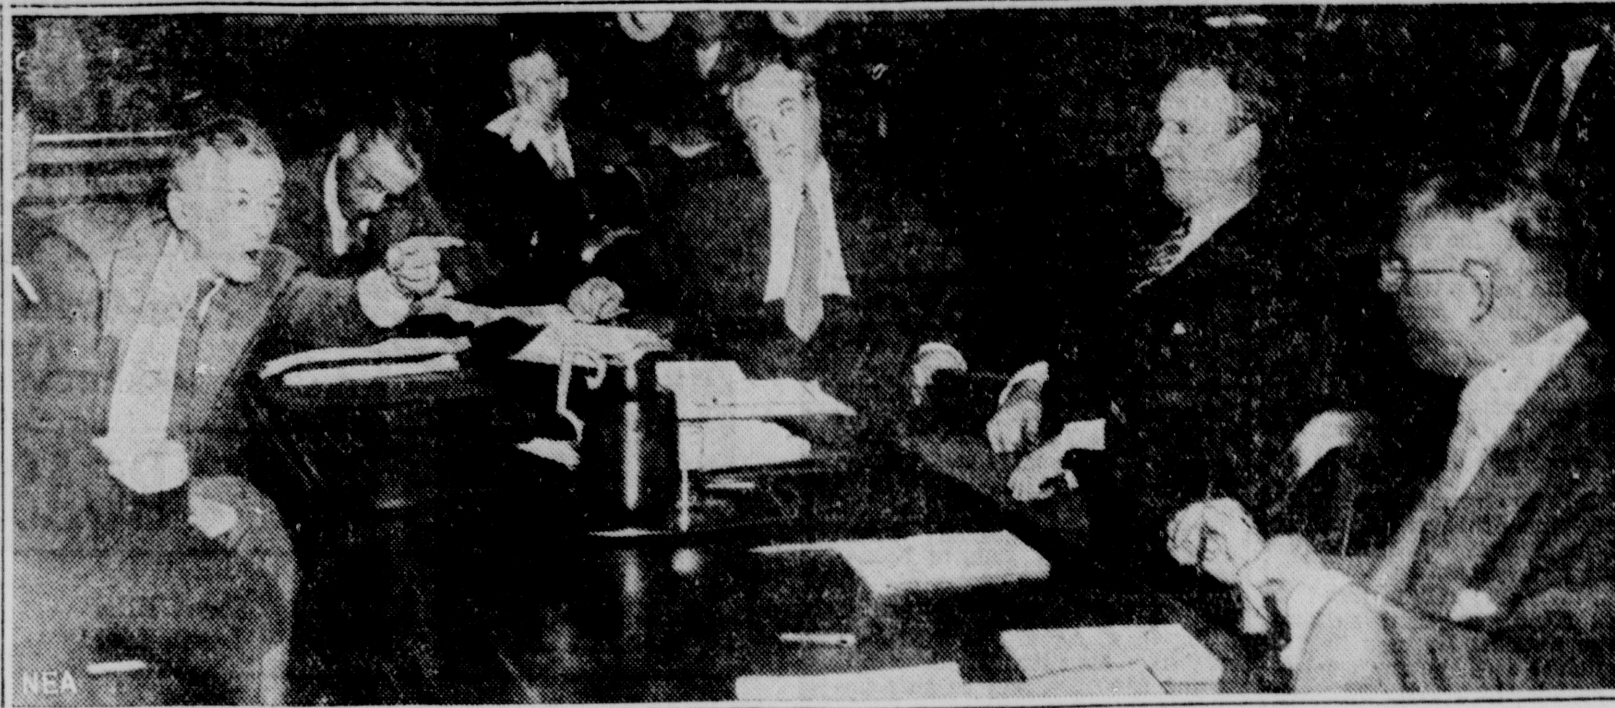

Flag relay by B girls; balloon race by Boy Scouts; egg and spoon race for girls; obstacle race by boys; 50 yard dash for boys under 16; 25 yard dash for nursery patients; wheelbarrow race for boys; suit case race for girls; watermelon eating contest for boys and girls; potato race for girls; crab race for nursery patients; 50 yard dash for B2 boys; sack race for boys; 70 yard dash for girls; 100 yard dash for boys; 100 yard dash for male employees; hoop race for boys; pie-eating contest for boys and girls; marshmallow race for girls; fat man's race; nail driving contest for female employees; greased pole climb and tug of war.

A BOOK A DAY

THAT MOST COSTLY LUXURY—THE SLUM

By Bruce Catton
Some days we may get sense enough to realize that the city slum is the most expensive of all the non-essentials our civilization supports.

If you doubt that statement, you are invited to read "The Autobiography of a Liverpool Irish Slum," by Pat O'Mara.

Here a lad who was born and grew up in one of the world's worst slums tells what life there was like; and his story is one of the most horrifying and enlightening human documents you will ever read.

What the extremes of poverty can do to human beings is set forth here with pitiless and unsentimental clarity.

O'Mara father, for example, got roaring drunk every Saturday night, pawing the children's clothes in order to do so. Coming home, it was his invariable custom to beat his wife into unconsciousness. Yet all of this, somehow, seems to have been a symptom of misery and not a cause.

This sort of thing happened because, given the conditions under which the family lived, there was nothing else that could happen.

Economics forced human beings to become brutes; the exact form that the brutality took was relatively unimportant. Liverpool supported a slum—as do New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and every other large city—and cultivated there a large crop of people who could not possibly be "good citizens"; people who annually made the streets horrible with crime, sickness, vice and destitution.

Young O'Mara was an exception. He escaped, came to America, and—as this book proves—developed genuine talent as a writer.

ASHTON NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle—Miss Helen Stegmeir, Junior High school teacher was seriously injured at 8 A. M. Monday when the car in which she was riding, driven by Irwin Carney, collided with a machine driven by Mrs. Dan Hessner, who resides one mile north of Malta. The accident occurred on the Lincoln Highway near Malta.

Miss Stegmeir was removed to Glidden Memorial hospital (DeKalb) where it was revealed that she had received a fractured upper pelvic bone. She was later moved to her home here. Besides Miss Stegmeir and Carney, the Misses Lou Bain, Louise Haselton and Martha Anderson, all of Rochelle, were riding in Carney's car. They escaped uninjured.

According to police reports, the Hessner car approached the highway from the south and was driven directly into the path of Carney's automobile. The Rochelle man, in an attempt to avoid the crash, swerved his machine to the right, but rammed the Malta car on the left side. The Rochelle young people are students at the Northern Illinois State Teachers' College at DeKalb.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Sherwood and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cluts, all of Rochelle, were cut and bruised at 12:25 P. M. Sunday when the car in which they were riding near Ashton overturned in a ditch after a collision.

The Rochelle car was struck from the rear right side by a car driven by Mrs. George Smith, residing near Ashton. Mr. Cluts, who was driving suffered severe lacerations about the face, arms and hands, and was the most seriously injured.

The party was enroute to Davenport, Ia., at the time of the accident.

Rockfordite Kills Self After Quarrel

ROCKFORD—A quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. William Kozlowski was climaxed when he shot himself in the head. He died later in a hospital. Kozlowski was 43 years old.

The next time you are downtown step into any drug store and ask for HEALO, that wonderful foot powder.

"Happy Warrior's" Happiest Day

Grinning broadly, former Governor Alfred E. Smith was hailed as a conquering hero when he marched through cheering throngs at Albany, N. Y., as pictured here to preside at the state convention which ratified repeal of national prohibition.

The whippet is said to be the fastest thing on legs. This dog can travel 200 yards in from 10 to 12 seconds, or half the time a man would require.

Chicago Man Made Expensive Error

CHICAGO—It was just a case of mistaken identity but it was mighty embarrassing and expensive to Michael Dooman, 39, who walked up to two men in a hotel lobby and talked to them about opening a gambling resort. The man he thought was Louis Alterie, once known in gang circles, proved to be Sergt. James McInerney and the other was State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. A judge fined Dooman $25 and costs for disorderly conduct.

EXETER YOUTH DROWNS
SPRINGFIELD—Efforts to revive Rex Quinn, 16, of Exeter, after his body was found in a creek a few minutes after he went under while swimming, were futile.

Eighty per cent of tornadoes occur between the hours of noon and six P. M.

NEW CHAMP OF HEAVIES A MAN MADE BATTLER

Owes Success To Leon See's Wisdom: Started As Strong Man

New York, June 30.—(AP)—Primo, a heavy champion of the world, is a man-made fighter, an "out-size" human who might never have had a boxing glove on his huge fist except for the wisdom of a promoter who saw in him tremendous crowd-drawing possibilities.

Born in Sequa, Italy, Oct. 25, 1907, Primo was laboring steadily at the family trade—mosaic work—and at carpentering when he was 12. He grew so rapidly and with such a corresponding increase in appetite, that he decided he'd better travel "on his own."

At 16 he was just about as big as he is now, and the manager of a circus in France, seeing Primo standing outside, offered him a job as "strong man" for bed and board. After traveling around Europe for several years, the circus gave him an exhibition in a town near Paris. Leon See, a sports promoter, saw Carnera perform and immediately offered to launch the giant on a boxing career.

Carnera accepted and made his first start against Leon Sebbilo on Sept. 12, 1928. He knew nothing much about boxing but he beat Sebbilo down in two rounds by sheer strength.

Won Ten In Row

The Italian then won 10 bouts in succession, seven by knockouts, and was matched with W. L. (Young) Stribling, then a leading heavyweight contender. They met in London and Carnera won on a foul in four rounds, but a few weeks later Stribling beat him, also on a foul, in seven rounds in Paris.

The publicity Carnera received from these two bouts led See to bring him to this country and the man mountain piled up a long string of knockouts, some of them questionable, in a barnstorming tour that took him from one coast to the other.

All told, Carnera has fought 78

YANKEES CLIMB BACK INTO TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

Take Advantage Of Senators' Loss To Detroit Thursday

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Taking divergent paths toward the top, the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals have resumed their courses toward the leading places in the major leagues which they lost not so long ago.

Seizing upon the first sign of slackening in Washington's winning streak, the Yanks battered their way back in to a tie for the American League lead yesterday at the expense of the Cleveland Indians. The Cards opened a direct attack on the New York Giants,

Little Poker Face Continues Her Pace

Wimbledon, England, June 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody continued her serene way toward her sixth Wimbledon tennis title today with a 6-2 6-0 victory over the experienced French woman player, Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, in the quarter-finals of women's singles.

"SO HAPPY THAT I TRIED ALL-BRAN"

Delicious Cereal Brought Relief From Constipation

If you have headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read Mrs. Schneider's letter:

"Since I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I don't have to take anything else for constipation. How good it is, and how much better it is for constipation than pills or any other medicine."

"I would never go back to what I used to take, because Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wholesome and healthful." —Mrs. John Schneider, 950 Tenth Street, Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

YANKEES CLIMB BACK INTO TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

Take Advantage Of Senators' Loss To Detroit Thursday

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Taking divergent paths toward the top, the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals have resumed their courses toward the leading places in the major leagues which they lost not so long ago.

Seizing upon the first sign of slackening in Washington's winning streak, the Yanks battered their way back in to a tie for the American League lead yesterday at the expense of the Cleveland Indians. The Cards opened a direct attack on the New York Giants, and walloped the National League leaders 7-3.

The Yanks did a great job of bunching their blows against Cleveland to win 9-3. Lefty Gomez was effective in the pinches and Babe Ruth set the hitting pace for the fourth straight New York victory.

The Senators, meanwhile, bowed 5-4 to the Detroit Tigers. After tying the count in the ninth, the Senators knicked the game away in the last half of the frame when Bill McAfee gave a walk and booted Heinie Schulte's sacrifice to set the stage for Gerald Walker in driving in the deciding run.

Cards Assault Clark

The Cardinals assault consisted largely of a six run assault on Lefty Bill Clark in the third inning.

With Lefty Grove on the hill, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the St. Louis Browns 4-1. Jimmie Fox hit his 15th homer.

The revived Phillies, paced by Chuck Klein, continued to knock off the National League's first division clubs as they hung a 6-4 defeat on the third place Pittsburgh Pirates. Klein knocked in all six runs with two homers and two singles.

The combination of Guy Bush's steady pitching and an 11 hit attack on Walter Beck gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers as Babe Herman, a former Dodger, hit a homer with two aboard to start his team off toward victory.

Rain halted the Boston-Chicago American League encounter while the Braves and the Cincinnati Reds had an off day in the National.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.—Psalms, 37:25.

Rightness expresses of action what straightness does of lines.—Herbert Spencer.

The U. S. Army's new bombing base at Hamilton Field, Calif., costing $6,000,000, will be garrisoned this summer.

Knockout Was Too Fast For Loughran

New York, June 30.—(AP)—This will give an idea of the swiftness of that right uppercut that snuffed out Jack Sharkey's brief reign as heavyweight champion last night.

Tommy Loughran, one of the cleverest boxers in modern ring history didn't even see it! And he was peering intently at the pair when it was struck.

Sitting next to an Associated Press writer at the ringside, the Philadelphia "phantom" gasped as Sharkey went down under Loughran's blow.

"What hit him?" he asked.

MINER CONFLICTS AT HARRISBURG BREAK OUT ANEW

Shots are Fired At Motor Cars Carrying Working Union Miners

Harrisburg, Ill., June 30—(AP)—A renewal of conflict between mining union miners today was blamed by officers for the ambushing of a caravan of United Mine Workers and the wounding of two of their number.

Shots were fired at the caravan of 15 motor cars carrying about 30 workers in the Peabody Coal Company's No. 43 mine to their homes in Galacia, a few miles from Harrisburg. The incident occurred late yesterday near Tuttle Bottom.

Raymond Harris was wounded in the left arm, and Ed Plater was creased by a bullet. Windshields in several machines were shattered. No arrests were reported although Sheriff's deputies were investigating.

The Peabody mine recently was opened after the signing of a contract with the United Mine Workers Union. It had been closed previously by a strike of Progressive Miners of America.

Outsiders Barred
Considerable disorder has characterized the re-opening. Yesterday a dynamite explosion damaged the home of James Ford, at Eldorado, employed in the Peabody mine.

Miners from outside Saline county have been refused permission to work the mine. Officers barred their entry after members of the Progressive Union picketed highways to the colliery and threatened violence.

Only yesterday United Mine Workers of Herrin, in Williamson county, petitioned Governor Horner to do something about the "injustice." They said they had been without employment for two years or more and "were being deprived of the right to earn an honest living."

CAPITAL HOME BOMBED

Springfield, Ill., June 30—(AP)—Five persons narrowly escaped injury early today when a bomb exploded outside the home of William Koch, a coal miner, and almost wrecked it.

Koch, who with his wife and three children were awakened by a shower of glass over their beds, attributed the attack to trouble in the ranks of miners. He is a member of the United Mine Workers Union, which was employed at a Peabody mine.

An investigation disclosed that the house had been moved on its foundation and that the roof had been raised by the force of the explosion. On two previous occasions the house was fired upon from an automobile and an attempt to bomb it was frustrated.

SUBLETTE NEWS

By Mrs. H. D. Oeschger

Sublette—The Sunday school of the Sublette Union church, under the superintendency of Mrs. Alma Oester again displayed its adventurous spirit by sponsoring on the evening of Saturday, June 24 a Father and Sons banquet. It was very unique in that it was the first of its kind ever held here. Laid in the surroundings of the church parlors, which together with the tables, were appropriately and artistically decorated with our National colors, a delicious meal was served to fifty fathers and sons. This was followed by a very well planned and executed program with Ralph Long acting as toastmaster. His ready wit and resourcefulness played no small part in providing the proper atmosphere. Musical selections and readings by Milton and Roy Brown were well received. Rev. Harold D. Oeschger's toast on "Tributes to Dad" was representative of his usual splendid addresses. As the finest tribute to our fathers he challenged the sons to take the torch of civilization, kindle it into a brighter flame and carry it onward and forward. George Thier very ably gave the response which was indicative of the ideal relationship between dad and son.

At the banquet hour drew to a close there was a lingering sense of the fine fellowship enjoyed and the hope expressed that this be made an annual occasion.

The Sublette Woman's Club thanks the community for their patronage to their ice cream social last Thursday and they also thank all who donated toward the same.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lauer and children returned from Chicago on Monday after spending a week visiting relatives and attending the Century of Progress.

BARRETT COLVIN, back in New York after years abroad, falls in love with 20-year-old ELINOR STAFFORD. Barrett is 35, wealthy, and has made a name for himself as an archeologist.

LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's beautiful mother, has kept the girl in the background, wanting attention for herself. Lida is carrying on a flirtation with VANCE CARTER and constantly scheming to keep in the good graces of rich MISS ELLA SEXTON, her husband's aunt, in order to inherit a share of the Sexton fortune.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. She tells Barrett that if her husband ever learns of the affair he will never forgive her.

Elinor's mother goes to Miami for three weeks. When she returns she deliberately tries to break up the romance between Barrett and Elinor and succeeds. The girl is heart-broken because she does not hear from him.

Barrett and Elinor meet unexpectedly at Miss Ella Sexton's. He offers Lida a cigarette and she refuses, declaring she does not smoke. Rebellious at her mother's hypocrisy, Elinor takes a cigarette, thereby offending her aunt who has more decided to revive her will.

A few days later Miss Ella dies. The funeral is held and the relatives assemble to hear the will. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

THE lawyer's voice droned on. "To my niece and nephew, Elizabeth and James Thrope," he read, "$100."

Lida leaned forward to smile and nod at Bessie who sagged back limply, looking like a pudding long boiled in a bag.

"To my nephew, Bentwell Stafford, $100."

It couldn't be true! Then Lida thought, "Aunt Ella's left the money to me. Or to Elinor."

The lawyer went on reading. Ten dollars to each of them. Ten dollars! The same sum for each of the three Thrope boys. Bessie was crying almost uncontrollably. Lida saw. Jim had slipped an arm around her. His face was working strangely. Bentwell sat stolid. Elinor's eyes were closed.

Lida, strained and leaning forward, heard the lawyer continue. "And I, Ella Gaines Sexton, do name as sole legatee to the remainder of my fortune Barrett Holmness Colvin who has never disappointed my faith in him and who thus merits my trust. And if his conscience for some reason that I do not know makes him refuse this gift the amount he must then go to the purpose of suppressing in the United States such art as is made pernicious by featuring the undraped female figure."

The group moved rather blindly, stupidly. Miss Smythe, triumphant, inclined her head to Elinor.

Lida pushed roughly toward Barrett Colvin. She was breathing hard. "I—quite understand that I do not want my aunt's money!" she said. "And why you paid my daughter such attentions only to turn from her suddenly—why you offered her a cigarette in this house, knowing how you could influence my aunt. You deliberately tried to give her the impression that there was something about my daughter you didn't approve. Well, I congratulate you on your success in robbing her!"

"Lida, please!" Bentwell petitioned hoarsely.

Barrett was staring down at her, wonder and sudden understanding blended in his unhappy eyes. Elinor looked from one to the other.

"You—yes! You did it!" She was pointing at Elinor. Bentwell was drinking from a glass that trembled in his hand. Elinor looked from one to the other.

hate him! He turned to look for Elinor. She was beside him, white as paper. She said gently, "I'm sorry my mother feels as she seems to. I suppose—we're all upset. I know you didn't scheme and—Aunt Ella had every right to leave her money where she pleased."

Then, turning, she was gone. Lida was approaching hysterics. "I shall take this to every court in the land!" she threatened, voice shrill and rising. "Everyone here knows I stayed with Bentwell only because that old hag hated divorce so. Bentwell's a sot! He's made my life—"

"Silence!" boomed the lawyer. "Silence, please, Mrs. Stafford," said Miss Smythe crisply. So many years she had been ground down by Mrs. Stafford and all that time she had known how Mrs. Stafford cheated Miss Ella, of whom Miss Smythe was fond. She had looked forward to this moment with the keenest pleasure but now—she could not forget the way Elinor had smiled at her and said, "I'm glad, Miss Smythe, that Aunt Ella remembered you so well. You deserved it more than anyone else."

VACATIONS and HEALTH

FIRST AID

FORETHOUGHT may prevent accidents, and quick thought and action may prevent an accident from turning into a fatality. Know the rules for first aid, and apply them when necessary, without losing your head.

The cardinal principle of first aid is to render such help in time of accident as the facilities at hand will permit. If you are going on a hunting, camping or extensive automobile trip, it is a wise precaution to carry along a first aid outfit, which may be secured from any drug store. Learn how to use the contents. When anyone has been injured, get the victim to a doctor as soon as possible after applying first aid.

Bleeding or hemorrhage is one of the commonest and most serious accidents. When an artery has been severed, as a result of a serious cut, the blood is bright red and comes in spurts. In that case, pressure should be applied to the heart side of the point of bleeding, preferably with a tourniquet, which may be improvised from a handkerchief or piece of cloth. If it is necessary to apply the tourniquet for any period of time, it should be loosened every 15 or 20 minutes to prevent gangrene. Should it prove impracticable to apply a tourniquet, pressure may be applied by the fingers or by means of a pad held in place by a bandage.

Wounds should be cleansed and a suitable antiseptic applied. This is particularly important when the wound may contain infected material.

Dog bites should be cleansed and cauterized. If possible, the animal should be put under observation to see if it is rabid, and if it shows evidence of this disease, anti-rabic treatment should be instituted by a physician.

Burns require first aid attention to prevent infection and to relieve pain and shock. Apply a suitable ointment or dressing and protect the injured parts. If the burn is extensive a doctor should be consulted.

Fractures should be treated by applying a splint made of any rigid material to prevent any further injury to the tissues by the fragments of bone and to facilitate transportation of the injured person. The splints should extend on both sides well beyond the point of injury.

Sunstroke and heat prostration, which are discussed more fully in another article in this series, require rest and quiet in the shade, and a light, simple diet.

Electric shock and carbon monoxide poisoning, which comes from inhaling the exhaust from a motor, require the application of artificial respiration in much the same way as for a person who has apparently drowned. The prone method of artificial respiration is described in the next article in this series.

This is the ninth of a series of 12 articles on Vacations and Health. The tenth, on Artificial Respiration, will answer the questions:

1. Does the heart continue to beat after breathing stops?
2. Does water get into the lungs of a drowned person?
3. How should the prone method of artificial respiration be practiced?

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The line of battle for the Congressional by-elections of next year, when the Republicans will attempt to stage a come-back in the House, appears to be drawn very clearly.

Inflation, budget, and industry control promise to be major issues fought out on the political front beginning this summer and continuing until the personnel of the seventy-fourth Congress has been determined.

"When I go out this summer," one Republican leader stated before he left the Capital for home, "I shall talk about just one thing—economics."

The regular Republicans say they have material to wage one of the greatest political battles in the history of the country. They appear convinced that the measures enacted in the special session threaten to alter the fundamental structure of the nation.

ACROSS THE AISLE—

One hears for example, such Republican stalwarts as James W. Wadsworth of New York, a former Senator and now a member of the House saying that if the policies written into the law of the land during the special session are to prevail, he feels sorry for his sons and their sons.

"They will live in a country," says Wadsworth, "whose people shall be regimented, controlled, guided and, finally, compelled to adopt whatever methods of life government imposes upon them."

And Snell of New York, the Republican floor leader of the House, cries out:

"The principles of more than a hundred years have been thrown out. Much of the Democrats' program instead of decentralizing the government, ruthlessly discarded every principle of individual enterprise and initiative for which this government was founded."

The Republican leader admits, however, that the chance of his party in the 1934 elections "depends on whether this experimental legislation enacted by the Democrats at the special session works."

AMONG THE DEMOCRATS—Democratic leaders themselves are not overlooking this possibility. Some of the major principles in the program written into the law during the three and one-half months of the special session have been frankly labeled by the President as experimental.

The Democrats have staked their hopes for the future on their program, however. Joe Byrns, the Democratic floor leader of the House, in his summation of the accomplishments of the special session prepared before he left Washington, perhaps expressed the sentiment and hope of his party as well as any one:

"The far-reaching effect cannot be realized for many months, but there can be no question of the statement that the lives and fortunes of every individual in this nation will be touched and the course of many changed."

Daily Health Talk

INFANTILE ECZEMA

Infantile eczema, a condition of eczema in infants may be due to a faulty diet or to the infant's peculiar sensitiveness to certain kinds of foods.

It may also be caused by a gastro-intestinal upset with the absorption of irritant products from the bowel. The eczema may be caused by external irritants.

Infantile eczema, while provoked by some type of irritant, really represents what is designated as a constitutional reflex.

The infant, whose skin itches, learns to scratch and persists in scratching. The result is that the scratched skin is further irritated, and superficial infection may set in.

Many dermatologists believe that the great majority of infants suffering infantile eczema are above the average in intelligence.

This conviction is based upon the idea that infants suffering from infantile eczema are, by heredity, or through environment, or both, hypersensitive.

The actual hypersensitivity, which contributes to the development of infantile eczema will, it is assumed, also lead them in later life to more readily appreciate and profit by the lessons of both school and life.

In the treatment of infantile eczema, it is important to remove the provoking irritant. This may involve, at times, a radical change in diet, the removal of food items to which the child is sensitive, improvement in the hygiene of the child, and the elimination of irritants.

In addition to these, however, it is commonly necessary to protect the child from exciting environmental factors, such as irritating amusements, excessive handling and fondling of the child, irritating noises, the excitement of anxiety manifested by the parents and those about the child.

The child should be discouraged from scratching itself. Harsh restraint, however, is not desirable. Local, as well as constitutional treatment when required, should be prescribed by the physician in charge of the case.

Manchoukuo Builds on Modern Lines

Manchoukuo is going modern under her Japanese-dominated administration. Occidental architecture is being followed in the large construction projects nearing completion at Hsinking, capital of the new state. The picture above shows the modern residences that have arisen, many occupied by Japanese and Manchoukuo officials. Below, reflecting in their garb both oriental and western influences are members of Manchoukuo's cabinet. The tallest man in the center is Premier Prince Tei.
